

- 16 - Olivera Stojadinovic, Azbuka II
 17 - Vuk Djurickovic, Baroque Alphabet
 18 - Teni Svenda, Prayer
 19 - Zoran Ilic, Alphabet in Air
 20 - Djordje Zivkovic, from The Divine Comedy by Dante
 23 - Vuk Djurickovic, Spontaneous Letters
 24 - Djordje Zivkovic, from Book of Michelangelo by Milos Crnjanski
 25 - Vuk Djurickovic, Cyrillic in Blue
 26 - Slobodan Miladinov
 27 - Stjepan Fileki, Decorative Majuscule of the 16th Century
 28 - Stjepan Fileki, First Serbian Primer
 29 - Stjepan Fileki, Study of Penmanship
 30 - Teni Svenda, Symphony of Letters
 31 - Djordje Zivkovic, Alphabet in Red

To Mrs. Rada Bulat whose mother's embroidered alphabet in 1911, at the age of 12, in Osijek, loaned her work for this exhibit.

The books on display are courtesy of the University of Toronto Library and the private collection of Mr. Damjan Krnjevic - Miskovic and Svetlana Miskovic.

Acknowledgement:

The Serbian Heritage Museum acknowledges with great appreciation the following individuals who assisted with the preparation of this exhibit:

Nikola Ajdacic
 Nevena Malbasic
 Vukica Veselinovich
 Mirjana Vujanovic

Serbian Heritage Museum
 6770 Tecumseh Road East
 Windsor, Ontario
 N8T 1E6
 Tel: (519) 944-4884
 Fax: (529) 974-3963

MUSEUM HOURS

Monday-Friday: 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.
 Sunday: 2 p.m. - 4 p.m.

Groups are welcome by appointment

Visits may include viewing of fresco paintings at the Serbian Orthodox Church "Gracanica". Light lunches provided for groups of 15 or more people.

Бъ в красныхъ мира сего ѿспитал се юсн ѿть юности твою въ новій ученическнже Лазаре и крѣпка роу
 ка
 бн
 Serbian Heritage Museum
 '00

подъстоеаль юсн и чемлю ѿть

віа

юс

*

чоу

HISTORY OF

CYRILLIC ALPHABET

тат божественныхъ црквъ расудиъ несъстримо бити срѣдьцу твоему зд ёти христиани ѿтьствіа ти ѿбл адаемъ бити изманилении аще аи сего не получиши останти тлѣн

и

ві

Exhibit: January 21 - March 22, 1996

пити се съ вон небеснаго цара тѣм же и дѣлъ желаене полутиль еси и

INTRODUCTION

Cyril and Methodius were two Greek Orthodox missionaries. They lived in the 9th century. At that time, Serbs and other southern Slaves settled on Balkan Peninsula becoming the closest neighbours to Byzantium. Cyril and Methodius understood their language and as scholars, realized that teaching Slaves literacy in their own language was the mission. Along with the students Cyril and Methodius set to translate gospels and other religious books from Greek onto the language Slaves spoke.

The missionaries developed two alphabets for such purpose: Glagolic and Cyrillic. These alphabets intermingled and with time and natural development of the language, Cyrillic became dominant while complex Glagolic slowly disappeared.

The first known Slavic language was Old Slavonic. This language was spoken among clergy and nobles in Serbia, Russia, Bulgaria, Ukraine, Romania (until 18th century). Earliest documents in Cyrillic were inscriptions, epigraphs, gospels and other religious books. Samuilo's inscription is the oldest document from 993.

Further in the process of the language development each group of the Slavic people changed and adopted proposed Cyrillic signs, according to the locality of the sounds (for ex. soft consonants varied)

In the 19th century, in Serbia, Vuk Stefanovic Karadzic reformed Serbian language embracing authentic terms and sounds ordinary Serbs spoke. He published the first Serbian Dictionary in 1818 in Vienna. By that he officiated modern Serbian spoken and written language and established the rule: the way you speak, read and write. Now, the Cyrillic alphabet was a modified form of Old Slavonic with 30 symbols representing 30 pronounced sounds among Serbs.

As much as an acknowledgement of the founders of Cyrillic alphabet, reformers of the language, linguist theorists or scientists, encountering calligraphers, the scribes of our past and present time is demonstrated in this exhibit. The ability to coordinate eye and hand with mind requires integrity of inner vision for which calligraphers have significant place in the history. Even in the age when developed technology prints dozens of pages in no time, a stroke of brush or pen remains to be an authentic touch of life.

The Serbian Heritage Museum is grateful to the University of Toronto Library, the Director Librarian of the Slavic Section Mrs. Sofija Skoric, Prof. Ralh Bogert, University of Belgrade - Academy of Applied Arts, Prof. D. Stjepan Fileki, and artists whose calligraphy is on display:

- 1 - Miroslav Cenic, from Signs by the Wayside by Ivo Andrsi
- 2 - Teni Svenda, Azbuka (Alphabet)
- 3 - Olivera Stojadinovic, Ethereal Collage
- 4 - Teni Svenda, Greetings
- 5 - Miroslav Cenic, from Hamlet
- 6 - Danijela Paracki, from Jefimija's Praise to Prince Lazar
- 7 - Vukan Cirim, Black and Silver
- 8 - Radomir Levajac, Azbuka (Alphabet)
- 9 - Olivera Stojadinovic, Azbuka (Alphabet)
- 10 - Vuk Djurickovic, Azbuka (Alphabet)
- 11 - Vuk Djurickovic, from The Gardiner by Rabindranath Tagore
- 13 - Predrag Dragovic, Story of St. Sava by Matija Beckovic
- 14 - Radomir Levajac, Hymn of Love
- 15 - Djordje Zivkovic, from J'accuse by Emil Zola